Gilmore Youth revamp Marriott Park

As part of the Gilmore Youth Leadership annual community service project, Marriott Park will receive a spring clean this coming Sunday.

At 8am on the 24th of October, Marriott Park will be bursting with activity as over 100 young residents undertake cleaning, painting and gardening to prepare the park for a busy spring and summer period.

Each year the league consults with Shoalhaven City Council about potential projects within the city that could use some attention. Previous works have included the David Berry Hospital Gardens and the Ulladulla Rotary Park Gardens.

In its 6th year, the leadership forums projects are always well supported by the community and relate to the local area and environment.

The forum is focused on developing integrity, community service and leadership for school students.

It aims to inspire and involve young leaders in the region and provides activities and experiences that give greater depth to their understanding of leadership.

Marriott Park will be busy this Sunday as the forum gets to work around the park. Please be aware that surfaces are to be re-painted and may not be accessible until dry.

Shoalhaven City Mayor, Clr Paul Green said "It's always good to see the community taking pride in their surroundings and not only does this event help to beautify the area, it teaches the participants the skills and knowledge needed to plan, organize and implement these activities."
