City celebrates with arts awards

Shoalhaven City Council is inviting all citizens to help recognise the hard work and outstanding achievement of its Arts and Cultural Heritage volunteers at a community event at the Shoalhaven Entertainment Centre on Sunday 11 April at 2pm.

The Shoalhaven Arts Board Award Ceremony will recognise the hard work of the City's long serving volunteers and individuals and organisations that have gone above and beyond, through the presentation of two Outstanding Achievements awards.

The successful award recipients and long serving volunteers who have been nominated by Shoalhaven's Art and Cultural Heritage organisations will be recognised and thanked by Shoalhaven City Mayor Councillor Paul Green and the Arts Board Chairperson Cllr Bohdan Brumerskyj.

The outstanding achievements award will be presented to both an Individual and an organisation for their outstanding contribution to the Arts in the Shoalhaven:

- Raising the profile of the arts in the Shoalhaven
- Fostering the Growth of the Arts in the Shoalhaven
- Demonstrated best practice
- Contributed to the Arts in the Shoalhaven beyond ordinary expectations.

The award ceremony will include performances by local performers including Olivia Corish, and will be followed by an afternoon tea. The Shoalhaven Arts Board Awards is a free event and is open to the entire community, but bookings are essential.
