Still time to vote for volunteer awards

There are only a few days left to vote for the NSW Volunteer of the year awards with nominations closing at midnight on Thursday 30th September.

This state wide awards program recognises and celebrates the contributions made to our state by 2.4 million people. Collectively these selfless souls make up the equivalent of 235 million paid hours of work.

Shoalhaven City Mayor, Cllr Paul Green says “Everyone should get behind this program and nominate someone in your community that puts in a lot of time helping others. Our community is a generous one and we have many worthy recipients of such an award’

There are four major categories within the awards program

- 2010 NSW Volunteer of the year award
- 2010NSW Youth Volunteer of the Year Award
- 2010 NSW Volunteer team of the Year award and
- 2010 Employee (Corporate) Volunteer of the Year award

Cllr Green says “With the recent windstorm activity and many other occasions and situations in our City, we constantly witness the amazing efforts of volunteers who are out there in our community.”

Individuals, corporate and teams of volunteers can be nominated at <http://www.nsw.volunteerawards.com/nominate> or you can phone the Centre for Volunteering on (02) 9261 3600
